EXPLANATORY NOTE.

THIS return relates to the third General Election which took place in 1926, except in the case of the Council of State and the Burma Legislative Council, the elections to which took place in 1925. In these two cases the elections were the second under the Act of 1919, because the Council of State has a life-time of five years as compared with three years in the case of the Legislative Assembly and the Provincial Councils, and because the Reforms were inaugurated in Burma two years later than in other provinces.

The figures given for the number of electors who voted and the percentages of the number who voted to the number on the electoral roll are, in the case of plural member constituencies, approximate only. In these constituencies, each elector has as many votes as there are seats to be filled, and the figures are calculated on the assumption that each elector used all his votes; that is, the figure given as the number of electors who voted is the result of dividing the number of votes polled by the number of seats to be filled.
